Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 16 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Often windy with rain or showers, but drier spells too.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers dying out this evening, leaving clear spells behind for a time, but further rain moving east through the night and becoming windy once again.

Wednesday:
Rain clearing during the morning, but returning to many southern and central areas during the afternoon and evening. Some sunshine for a time, heavy showers in the northwest where windy.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Unsettled with bands of heavy rain and showers moving on a brisk south-westerly wind. Some drier, more settled interludes. Coastal gales in the south and northwest at times. Rather mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.